1. Background

Raising the Village (RTV) exists because we believe that together we can find straight forward solutions to complex problems of inequality. Together, we can achieve what is impossible alone. Our story is borne as a result of two deep convictions: ultra-poverty is the worst form of inequality in our world; we have the opportunity to end ultra-poverty in our generation.

Our work and success is the result of cross-cultural collaboration between our staff and village partners, the local and federal government of Uganda, and experts from around the globe all working together. Fueled by the support of our donors, we are on a path to reach 2 million people living in ultra-poverty by 2030 in various districts in Uganda including;
